AN HONEST ANSWER

★ Medical ethics are not something unique and set apart, but simply a direct application of the Golden Rule. They provide an honest answer to the question, "What is best for the patient?" As one physician put it, "I do for my patients what I would do for a member of my own family."

As pharmacists, we adhere to the same code. The quality of our medications and service is the best it is possible to give. You, the patient, are our first concern

High School Chatter . . .

We are back to let you know what's happening at A. H. S. the last days of school.

The Junior - Senior reception was wonderful. The Juniors certainly did a beautiful job of decorating. The refreshments were delicious, and the orchestra wonderful. Most of the girls had corsages. But one orchid was seen.

The Seniors are excited about the dance, which is to be Thursday night. They are calling it the Last Palm Promenade. Darring Dave's orchestra from Lynchburg is going to play for them.

Physics are becoming everyday affairs here. The Sophomore class is going on a picnic Thursday. Miss Taylor's geography class had a picnic Tuesday. Hope they didn't eat too much.

We were sorry to see Mr. Spence leave us so soon. He is going to attend summer school somewhere in Texas. Mrs. Charles Crawley is teaching in this place.

Mrs. Cheatham is going to attend a class reunion at Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg this week-end.

The graduating exercises at the Randolph College certainly took Miss Dresser's attention Monday.

The little folks of Miss Kate Miller's music class will give a recital Friday night. Her next recital will be Tuesday night, when pupils will play.

We are looking forward to seeing Ann Burton, who is coming next week. Ann graduated at Randolph May 27th.

Everyone was happy to see June Tweedy visiting us.

We hear that wedding bells are ringing for another Senior girl soon.

June Tweedy has been awarded as validictorian of the class, and Birdie Harvey as salutatorian.

The honor has come to the Senior class. One of their sponsors, Miss Wiley Morris has been elected president of the Appomattox County Teachers' Association.

That's long, until next week.

Total contributions to date announced by Mrs. Frank F. Carr, Captain of the Appomattox County cancer fund drive, amount to $872.96, with several reports yet to be made.

Mrs. Carr attributes the success of the drive to the splendid cooperation of the public, and the volunteer workers who distributed more than 3,500 pieces of informative literature in homes and in schools while soliciting contributions.

The Lions Club, the business concerns and professional men in the town of Appomattox contributed a total of $197.75.

WET WEATHER BRINGS THREAT OF LATE BLIGHT

The threat of late blight in this year's tomato and potato crops on the Eastern Shore, Virginia's largest commercial area, has become intensified with wet, cool weather, the Norfolk Truck Experiment Station has warned.

Growers in other parts of the state should stock control materials now in preparation for the appearance of late blight. If the disease appears in nearby localities, start spraying or dusting immediately, it is advised.

Urges Soil Conservation

"Don't wait until the well runs dry," says John T. Hunter, chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Conservation Committee, "when your topsoil is gone it's too late to begin thinking about saving the soil. Farmers who wait until crop yields fall and gullies appear, he pointed out, are like the man who locked his barn after the horse was stolen.

Land that has not been seriously damaged by erosion should be kept that way. Keep yields high, and the land will help to bear the expense of maintaining fertility. But let the topsoil get away and with it goes the soil fertility. Then rebuilding is expensive and the damaged land is in no condition to bring yields that will help to bear the cost of rebuilding.
